ELECTION IN MEXICO OCT. 1

The Ballots for Electoral College are to be Cast Then.

MADERO ONLY CANDIDATE

Ignorance Concerning the Meaning of Election Presents a Grave Problem.

Mexico City, June 7.—By official decree issued by Mexico's provisional president Francisco L. De La Barra, a special presidential election was called. In all states and territories electors will be chosen on Oct. 1 and these will select the successor of Porfirio Diaz on Sunday, Oct. 15.

Governors are instructed to define and publicly announce prior to June 30, electoral districts in their respective states and territories, using for purposes of apportionment the census of 1910.

De La Barra fully realizes the immense responsibility he has assumed, and men who were prominent in the conduct of the revolution do not understand the difficulties that will be encountered in holding open elections in Mexico. In small towns and distant rural communities there doubtless are thousands to whom the word election conveys little or no meaning.

Electoral returns may be slow in coming in and it is not improbable, admit representatives of both the old government and the new, that in a few districts the result will be hopelessly tangled. However, those of both factions have tacitly agreed that since this is the first attempt at genuine voting in more than thirty years, they will not be over particular; that they will do the best they can.

REYES WORRIES THEM.

It remains for the various parties to select their candidates. At present Francisco I. Madero, Jr., is the only man whose name is certain to be printed on a ballot. Reyes will be in the capital in a few days and it is evident that his coming has made some of the Maderists nervous. The general has not declared that he will not be a candidate and until he answers the question supporters of Madero will not be entirely at ease.

ROBB FAMILY.

To Make Legal Fight for $50,000,000 Estate.

Lexington, Ky., June 6.—About fifty representatives of the Robb family, which claims the $50,000,000 left by George Robb in Pennsylvania, held a meeting here Friday at which Col. C. E. Smith, of Winchester presided. The object of the meeting was to hear the report of the special committee composed of Col. Smith, Judge J. H. Hazelrigg and William Robb, who have just returned from a visit to Pennsylvania to locate the property and investigate the claims of the heirs.

The committee which went to Pennsylvania on May 7 and spent several days there making investigations, reported that the property is located principally in the towns of Beaver, Beaver Falls, Harmony and Economy, in Beaver county, and that it consists of real estate, railroads, mines, etc. The opinion was expressed by all of the members of the committee that the claim of the so-called heirs is tenable, and legal steps will be taken at once to establish the claims of the heirs of the property, which, in the absence of near relatives of George Robb, is about to be escheated to the State. Judge J. H. Hazelrigg has already been retained as chief counsel and other well-known attorneys will be engaged to assist him in prosecuting the claim.

In the branch of the Robb family which was represented at the meeting today there were about 100 heirs who live in the State of Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

Civic League Resolutions.

Be it resolved, That the Civic Improvement League of Hopkinsville, having had a clean-up day, the results of which were beyond all expectations, take this this opportunity to thank especially:

The Mayor, who has in every way upheld and personally assisted the committee in all its undertakings.

The City Council for its co-operation, and generous support in a financial way, without which we could have done but little.

The Superintendent, Mr. Barksdale Hamlett, and the School Board for their hearty support and the half holiday given the children.

Manager Bleich, of the Princess Theater, who gave us willingly and courteously all the advertising we asked for and offered more.

Mr. Upshaw Wooldridge, who had the hauling contract, and who worked untiringly and capably handled the many demands with the greatest skill.

Mr. Denton, the sanitary officer, who answered every call made by the ladies which came within the province of his office.

Kentuckian and New Era, which exploited the merits of this work most liberally.

And to the merchants, the citizens, the housekeepers; and to the colored population, and to all who entered into this "Clean Up" work, and contributed to its success, we thank you all.

Hearst Sues.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst has instituted a libel suit against Collier's Weekly claiming $500,000 damages. The alleged offense is a publication in last week's Collier, one of the series of articles by Will Irwin on American journalism, in which Mr. Hearst's New York Journal, edited by Arthur Brisbane, is represented as using its editorial columns to attract or secure advertising.—Nashville Banner.

The Nerviest Decision Ever Made in a Baseball Game.

"The nerviest decision and one of the most important ever made was that of Umpire O'Day in the world's championship game between Chicago and Detroit on October 8, 1907—the first game of the series, which finally ended in a tie in twelve innings," writes Hugh Fullerton in the June number of The American Magazine. "In the eleventh inning Chicago actually scored the winning run only to lose it through the decision of O'Day, a Chicago man and a National Leaguer. Slagle was on third base and started home with the ball back of third in left field. The ball was thrown home and arrived after Slagle had crossed the plate and was nearly to the bench. Steinfeldt, who had been batting, was excited and when the ball was thrown to the plate, wild and wide, he jumped and let it hit his shoulder and prevented Schmidt from catching it. O'Day, in spite of the fact that Slagle had crossed the plate and that there wasn't a chance to stop him, put him out because of Steinfeldt's interference."

Under Advisement.

A Chicago lawyer tells of a newly elected squire in Minnesota, who was much elated by his honors, but not quite sure that he could sustain them gracefully. So for some time previous to his assumption of the office, he hung about the courts to get a tip now and then as to legal procedure. One phrase struck him particularly, and it was not long before he had an opportunity to utilize it.

When sitting in judgment on his first case, the testimony was all in and the arguments made, His Honor cleared his throat and delivered him self of the following:

"The court takes this case under advisement until next Thursday morning, when it will render a verdict in favor of the defendant."

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chances of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madison, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all druggists.

Contract For Ballots.

The standard printing company, of Louisville, was awarded the contract for printing the ballots to be used in the Democratic state primary July 1. The standard company had six competitors, but not a one of them was dangerous. The contract calls for 350,000 ballots, to be ready for delivery several days before the primary. The price is $1,793. The other bidders were the Billings Printing company, of Paducah, $2,264; C. T. Dearing Printing company, of Louisville, $2,490; Anzeiger Printing company, of Louisville, $2,800; Bradley & Gilbert company, of Louisville, $2,975; the Frankfort Printing company, of Frankfort, $3,193, and the Progress Printing company, of Owensboro, $3,500.

PAY HOMAGE TO THE DEVILS

Curious Ceremony in China Which is Looked Upon as Insurance Against Evil Spirits.

Once every year, during the first fifteen days of the seventh Chinese month the curious ceremony of Yuen-Wan-Wei is celebrated, being, in fact, the paying of homage to the land and sea devils. Seven priests carry out the ceremony by offering up various forms of prayer and making an unearthly noise by beating gongs. Any one wishing to show his respect to the devils can do so by a payment of 600 cash—about 22 cents—to each of the priests, for which amount they will continue their performance for twelve hours—a truly modest remuneration for gentlemen engaged in the arduous occupation of propitiating evil spirits. For an extra payment of 2,000 cash a number of small red paper boats, about six inches long, with lights inside, will be sent floating down the river with the current. These lights are for the benefit of the sea devils, in order that they may be able to see their way about on dark nights—a little attention which it is to be hoped these maritime demons appreciate. Having finished this performance, the person on whose behalf it has been carried out goes away happy in the conviction that he will not lose any of his family throughout the year either by sickness or by drowning, so that the whole ceremony may be looked upon as an insurance policy. At this time of year many thousands of the small lighted boats may be seen floating down the Yangtze-kiang, presenting a most unusual spectacle.—Wide World Magazine.

GREAT BIRDMEN TO FLY

At the Courier Aviation Meet in Evansville June 9 & 10.

That the Glen Curtiss birdmen will bring out the largest crowd that Evansville has ever entertained is an assured fact. The railroads, the traction lines, the steamboat companies and the merchants of Evansville have all put their shoulders to the wheel and are doing everything in their power to make it a success.

This is the first aviation meet ever held in Southern Indiana and the second of any consequence in the state, and the fact that the Evansville Courier is bringing this meet to Evansville is in itself a guarantee that the first aviation meet of southern Indiana will be a big success.

The Courier is to be congratulated on having two such famous flyers as Lincoln Beachey and C. C. Witmer assigned to this meet. Beachey is considered the foremost American flyer now before the public and is much in demand at the Eastern meets. The New York papers rank him along with Hoxey and Johnston. as a dare devil, a man absolutely unafraid and for whom no chance is too great. Witmer is noted for his altitude flights and while in Evansville he will try to establish a new record. Witmer will also be entered in the five mile race against an automobile.

Other exciting events will be pulled off, a five and a ten mile motorcycle race, automobile races, High School track meet open to all. High Schools in Ind., Ill., and Ky., for which suitable prizes will be offered by the Evansville merchants.

Special low rates are offered on all railroads, steamboats and traction lines entering Evansville.

Tickets are now on sale at the Courier office.

SNAKES FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

PREFERRED LOCALS

Gibobas Are Welcomed by Brazilian Families, for They Are Rat Catchers.

In certain parts of Brazil, where the climate is intensely hot, and where rats are a great nuisance, the common cat does not thrive, but is replaced by a domestic rat catcher whose presence causes a decidedly unpleasant sensation to visitors from the north, when first they come in contact with this creature.

Gibobas are a species of small boa-constrictor employed very generally in Brazil for the purpose above mentioned. They are not at all venomous.

They sleep in the house, generally taking up their position at the foot of the stairs. When nightfall approaches they begin to wake up, and during the night they glide swiftly about the premises looking for rats.

Gibobas are offered for sale in the markets of Bahia and Pernambuco for prices ranging from $1 to $5, according to the size of the creature. It is said that they are so easily domesticated that, if removed from one house to another they invariably return to the house whence they have been taken. Often when one is bargaining with a broker for the sale or lease of a residence in certain parts of Brazil the broker will extol the virtues and skill of the gibbon that goes with it.

HER LOVE OF THE BEAUTIFUL

Woman Wanted Handsome Cat's Fur for Muff, and Man Fled to Save His Soul.

A man and a woman once went into a room where a handsome black cat lay sleeping before the fire.

The woman was fair of face and richly dressed, and her large hat, which was in the height of the fashion, was covered with the distorted bodies and tail feathers of birds which had once been beautiful.

The man admired the woman and thought she was the gentlest and fairest thing he had ever met.

As soon as the woman saw the handsome cat she went up to it, calling it "Poor pussy" and fondled it. "How kind she is to everything," the man thought, "and how fond of animals!"

"Dear pussy," said the woman, stroking the cat not overgently, "I would like your skin for a muff."

The cat swore at her after its kind, for she had rubbed it up the wrong way and disturbed its sleep. And after a struggle it ran away.

"What more does she want?" the man said to himself. "She has her hat full of birds, and the skins of beasts round her shoulders, now she wants the cat's skin to cover her hands; next she will want my soul."

"Well, by hokel!" exclaimed the jurist, "if that isn't the key to my room at the Hotel Touraine! Say, how much is this thing worth, anyhow?"

"About fifty cents," he was told.

SURE OF HER.

"Would you permit your wife to wear a harem skirt?"
"Oh, yes, if she wished to wear one."
"I thought you had more respect for her than that."

"I have respect for her. That's why I say I would permit her to wear a harem skirt if she wished to do so. I am sure she would never put one on, if it is permissible to refer to a harem skirt as 'one'."

"You never can tell."
"Oh, yes, I can. In this case I'm sure of her."

"Why do you feel so confident?"
"Well, I suppose I ought not to say this, but I will. Don't let it go any further. My wife is bow-legged."

"Seems to me," said the renting agent, "that you are doing a land office business among my tenants."

"Pretty fair," said the salesman.

"Funny the sweepers wear out so soon," said the agent. "But that is not the only funny thing about this house. There are the mice. I am here to see about the mice. There shouldn't be a mouse on the place, for all the tenant seem to be good housekeepers, yet every little while somebody complains of mice."

"Our errands here originate in the same cause," said the salesman. "Every woman in the house is careless with her carpet sweeper. She leaves crumbs in it over night. That brings the mice, which nibble the sweeper trying to get at the crumbs, and in the end you and I make these periodical calls, you to get rid of the mice, I to sell sweepers."

A DEFINITION

"What's a 'chaser,' pa?"
"An afterthought, my dear."

RARE BOOKS IN CANADA.

In the library of Toronto, Canada, there is a version of the New Testament in Gothic, made by St. Ulphillas early in the fourth century. There are also copies made by the monks of the eleventh century, remarkable for their beautiful illuminated work. A commentary on Ezekiel bears the signature of Bishop Cranmer, who died at the stake under Queen Mary. It contains also a copy of the "Soldier's" Bible, printed in England in 1693, and sold for a penny. Another is the Edgar Bible, in which ten generations of the Edgar family are inscribed, early settlers in Canada. Another is the Bible of Barbara Heck, who introduced Methodism into America, and the Cree version, made for the natives by the missionary, James Evans.

THE LILY-LIKE ONION.

The onion, strange as it may seem, comes of an aristocratic family, from the stock of which have sprung many notable scions and lovely offshoots. The humble onion is own cousin to the stately lily, whether the arum or the lovely Lenten lily, the lily-of-the-valley or the fair, floating water lily, all these being of the great liliaceous race.

The onion has other notable connections. It is also cousin to the daffodil, or narcissus; and it is even allied to the gigantic dragon tree of Teneriffe, which bears little trace of the seeming frail lily tribe, but is nevertheless a monstrous lily.

Thus, it is plain, the onion is of illustrious origin, though to the ordinary observer there is nothing classical or romantic about it.—Harper's Weekly.

WAS SUSPICIOUS OF REPORTERS.

Carnegie used to be very suspicious of newspaper men. A reporter went to see him about a situation in the steel trade. Under a pretext of showing the reporter his baby (now Miss Carnegie) the ironmaster called his wife into the room with the infant in arms. He kept her there during the interview, which, after all, amounted to nothing. In fact, he would volunteer no more important information on the subject than his belief that the reporter would find a Carnegie article in a periodical of much interest.

RESULT OF TRAINING.

"The orator we heard tonight used to be a baseball player."

"I suppose that accounts for the way he pitched his voice."

THE PUPPY.

The puppy cannot mew or talk. He has a funny kind of walk. His tail is difficult to wag. And that's what makes him walk zigzag.

He is the kitten of a dog. From morn till night he's all agog—Forever seeking something now. That's good, but isn't meant to chew.

He romps about the tulip bed, And chews the flowers white and red. And when the gard'ner comes to see He's sure to blame mamma or me.

One game that cannot ever fail To please him is to chase his tail—(To catch him's tail, 'twixt me and you. I'm not an easy thing to do.)

If he has not a pretty face, The puppy heart is in its place. I'm sorry he must grow into A horrid, noisy dog—aren't you?—Oliver Herford in Harper's Magazine.

The Brute.

"John, now that we have been married ten years, and youthful illusions have slipped away, if you were to have to propose to me again tonight would you be as nervous as you were when you proposed ten years ago?"

"I certainly would, but from a different cause."

"How do you mean?"

"I was nervous then for fear that you might not accept me. I should be nervous now for fear you would."

Hang Him.

Juggins—Who was it that said if he could make the songs of the people he wouldn't care who made the laws?

Muggins—Don't know. But if he's the chap who's making the songs of the people nowadays I'd like to have the making of the laws a little while! That's all!—Red Hen.

The Truth of the Matter.

"Pidium made a flying machine, but his wife wouldn't let him go up in it."

"Then she thinks more of Pidium than the neighbor have supposed?"

"Well, not exactly. You see, Pidium wanted to begin a flight from his lawn and Mrs. Pidium was afraid he might smash the sun parlor."

After Hours.

Judge—You are sentenced to 20 years at hard labor. Have you anything to say?

Prisoner—Say, judge, can't you fix it up so I can get paid for overtime in case I want to stay longer?—Puck.

Jewett—Well, I'll be sorry for you, if they cremate you and then sift the ashes.

Nothing Doing.

How Rumors Start.

"I hear that her father has lost his money and that she has gone to work in a millinery shop."

"Nothing to it. She is spending most of her time in a millinery shop just now, but that's because she is trying on hats."

In Prospect.

"Well! well! I see where a break-fast food for horses has been invented."

"If this coddling of farm animals keeps up, we may expect before long to see pigs have elegant table manners."

Faith Unshaken.

"Is that man a good weather prophet?"

"I should say he is," replied Farmer Corntosse. "Sometimes his weather is a few days ahead of time or a few days behindhand. But it always gets here."

A Large Contract.

Tramp—Kin I get a bite to eat here?

Woman—Yes, if you'll saw that pile of wood.

A MODERN BAKE SHOP

Did you know that Hopkinsville had the most up-to-date Bakery in Western Kentucky? That ten thousand loaves of bread can be made by one of our local bakers in twenty-four hours, and that this bakery is shipping to almost all points in this section of the state? The government has been actively interested in the pure food laws and many bakeries have been closed up throughout the United States and that the flour and other things used by the bakers must now be of a standard purity.

Mr. Dallas M. Booker keeps his baking establishment perfectly clean and sanitary in all particulars and especially invites the ladies of the Civic League to call and see how quickly and cleanly bread is made and in what perfect condition from a sanitary standpoint the shop is kept. No one is allowed to even smoke in Book's baking room.

Why then keep your wife in a hot kitchen baking bread when it can be bought at Booker's shop for five cents a loaf, and the bread is really better than can be made at home.

Bread is delivered daily in all parts of Hopkinsville and the wagon will stop regularly at your home if you will ask them to. Booker has both phones and will be glad to see you at any time and will take pleasure in showing you over his large baking plant. When you have eaten Booker's bread once you will be satisfied with nothing else. Be sure and ask your grocer for Booker's bread.

...TURKEYS...
How To Grow Them

The best care should be taken of turkeys to keep them in good condition during the breeding period, especially the gobblers and laying hens. The great drain upon their vitality at this season weakens the system and they become an easy prey to Blackhead and other destructive ailments. A few drops of placed in the drinking water or feed, daily, will keep your turkeys in a strong, healthy condition and safely tide them over this trying season.

This preparation is a natural tonic and conditioner for turkeys. It is composed of certain salts, acids and mineral elements, which are found in minute portions in various grains, seeds and grasses, and which act gently on the fowl's liver and digestive organs and keep them in a healthy condition.

In its wild state the turkey was accustomed to supply itself with these elements and the disease known commonly as Blackhead, which has been killing its thousands among domestic turkeys, is unknown to the wild turkey.

Serious apprehension has been felt of late years among breeders of turkeys that the strain is running out and in a few years will be entirely extinct unless some tonic remedy is used to check the ravages of this destructive disease.

The daily use of

in the drinking water, or food, not only prevents Blackhead, but it will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health of your turkeys, and cause them to grow into large, rangy birds.

FOR THE TREATMENT OF BLACKHEAD AND OTHER DISEASES IN TURKEYS THIS REMEDY IS WITHOUT AN EQUAL.

... BLACKHEAD ...

In many localities turkey growing has become almost extinct as the result of a malignant parasitic disease known as Blackhead. This disease is not only extremely contagious, but it is very much aggravated or increased through inbreeding, which depletes the vitality of the stock of breeding turkeys and makes it possible for the germs to gain destructive foothold. It is usually contracted from other fowls, but is primarily caused by an absence or deficiency of mineral elements in the food, which, owing to the semi-domestic nature of the turkey, are an essential aid to proper food digestion. It has been claimed that there is no known specific for the treatment of this disease, but we think you will find Bourbon Poultry Cure a most efficacious remedy, both for the treatment and prevention of this disease.

Last September Mrs. R. B. Sweeney called me up over the telephone and told me her turkeys were all sick with blackhead, and a great many of them were down and unable to travel. She said she believed that she was going to lose her whole flock, and asked me if I could do anything for them. I sent her a bottle of Bourbon Poultry Cure and told her how to use it. She never lost a single turkey, and in a week's time they were all sound and well. I have been raising fancy poultry for fifteen years, and I consider this remedy the best I have ever used. I can take it and go by directions and cure the worst case of blackhead. I have a hundred Mammoth Bronze Turkeys and I give it to them twice a week and never have a sick fowl.

SURPRISE IN CIRCUIT COURT

Attorney Moves to Dismiss all but Two Night Rider Indictments.

Reasons set forth in Endorsements on The Indictments.

All of the indictments in the Christian Circuit Court known as the night rider cases were yesterday dismissed on motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith, with the exception of two against Dr. D. A. Amoss. There were originally 18 cases, three against each of six defendants. One of the cases against Amoss was tried at the last court and a verdict of acquittal returned. The other two cases are similar, but based on different crimes in the same raid.

It is said to be the intention to raise the point if Amoss is ever put on trial again that the other trial cleared him of all three indictments.

The motion came yesterday as a complete surprise, as the employed attorneys in the cases have been busy gathering evidence to strengthen in the cases in the next trials.

Trimble & Bell, John Stites and Judge J. C. Sims, of Bowling Green, were employed to prosecute the cases by citizens of Hopkinsville. It was planned to ask for a venire from some county outside of night rider influences at the next trials.

The fifteen indictments were endorsed as follows:

"The testimony against the withheld, J. B. Malone, Guy Dunning, Newton Nichols, John Robinson and Irvin Glass charged with being in the field upon Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 6, 1907, accomplices in the crime, the Commonwealth has no corroborating testimony connecting or tending to connect said defendants with said crime sufficient to sustain the charge herein against the above named Malone, Dunning, Nichols, Robinson, and Glass, for this reason the Commonwealth of Kentucky moves the court to dismiss this indictment against said defendants.

E. B. Long.

At a meeting of the officers and Directors of the City Bank & Trust Company, held at the office of the Bank on June 1st, 1911, official announcement was made of the death of E. B. Long, former President of the Bank.

Edward Buckner Long was born in the city of Hopkinsville 62 years ago and spent his entire life in his native city. No man stood higher in business and social circles, and no man had more or warmer friends. He had no enemies, for

"None knew him but to love him, Or named him but to praise."

Ned Long was one of the promoters and organizers of the City Bank, and of all the men who served with him from the beginning, 1880, only one remains. W. W. Garnett, of Pembroke, Ky. Mr. Long was first Assistant Cashier, then Cashier and then succeeded the late Judge Little as President, which office he held for sixteen years. On May 29, 1910, he sustained a stroke of paralysis, and was never again able to resume his duties at the bank.

A committee was appointed to honor his memory and to pass resolutions, and this paper is their report.

Whereas, God who is all wise, has summoned from our midst our dear friend and honored associate, transferring him to a higher plane and broader field of usefulness, Therefore Resolved that we humbly acquiesce in the Divine wisdom, though we mourn our loss.

Resolved that the name and character of our friend was without reproach, and that his business integrity was ideal.

Resolved that in his death Christian county and the city of Hopkinsville has lost a noble benefactor, and the Commonwealth a high minded and loyal citizen.

Resolved that we extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family, for he was a devoted husband, a loving father and a loyal brother.

Resolved that we imitate his vir-

Negro Laborer Accused of Killing Fellow Workman Saturday Night.

AT THE CONSTRUCTION CAMP.

Will Davis was Shot in The Head and Killed With a Shotgun.

John Sowers, a negro who disappeared Sunday, was arrested Tuesday in Evansville and confessed to the killing of Will alias "Kid" Davis, another negro, at the construction camp at Casky Saturday night. Officer Haydon went to Evansville to bring him back, he agreeing to come without requisition papers.

Davis was shot in the head with a shotgun, at the door of the tent in which the hands employed by the McDowell Construction Co., slept. But few details of the killing have come out. They quarreled over a pistol claimed by Sowers, who, it is said, went to another tent and got the shotgun and shot Davis.

The grand jury now in session will investigate the case.

Resolved as a further appreciation of our honored co-worker, that this paper be spread upon the Official Records of the Bank; that a copy be sent to the family of our friend, and also to the city papers for publication.

ALL LIFE BUT ONE CREATURE

Component Parts Are Merely Individual Cells, According to Argument of Samuel Butler.

Samuel Butler argues that, as automatic expertise in piano playing proves previous practice, so also does the immediate expertise in pecking of a newly hatched chick. To the question of personal identity; and again. This brings up the whole in them), and can therefore do it question: How can a newly hatched chick have had any practice in pecking? Butler replies that the essentials of the chick once lived in its parents' bodies, and that it remembers what they did (or what it did in them), and can therefore do it again. This brings up the whole question of personal identity; and Butler deals with it. We say that an octogenarian is the same "person" as he was when an infant; yet there is no identity of matter. Nor does personality depend upon any consciousness or sense of such personality; it is not likely that the moth remembers having been a caterpillar, any more than we remember having been children of a day old. And if the octogenarian is the infant of eighty years ago he is also the foetus of a few months before, and—chasing him still further back—he is identical with his parents. This "involves the probable unity of all animal and vegetable life, as being, in reality, nothing but one single creature, of which the component members are but, as it were, blood corpuscles or individual cells," which would fit in rather well with the similar argumentation of Fechner.

DIDN'T WANT GREEN HORSES

Irishman, Seeking Mounts for St. Patrick's Day Parade, Wanted Them All Gray.

A florid-looking Irishman drifted into the office of a big firm of horse dealers. He came from a benevolent association that is famous as one of the biggest aggregations of Irishmen outside of the Emerald Isle. He asked for Mr. Kearny, of the firm. "Oi want twenty gray horses for the parade St. Patrick's day," he announced after exhibiting his credentials.

"Twenty gray horses!" exclaimed Mr. Kearny, "that's quite an order. I don't believe we have twenty gray horses in the stables. We could give you about a dozen grays."

The Irishman shook his head; there were twenty officials of the order that had to be mounted. Then suddenly it occurred to Mr. Kearny that a carload of horses was on its way from the west; even then the bill of lading was on his desk, and the consignment could not be far from Jersey City.

"Hold on," said he, "I guess I can fix you up. I'm expecting a carload of green horses, and—"

"Green!" gasped the Irishman, as he jumped to his feet; "green horses! Th' devil roast 'em!" But he laughed just as heartily as did Mr. Kearny when it was explained to him that green was not actually the color of the horses.

RESOURCEFUL COUNT D'ORSAY.

D'Orsay was once dining at the Old Ship hotel at Greenwich when someone called his attention to an inscription made with a diamond upon the central pane of the bay window overlooking the Thames, in which his name was improperly connected with that of a celebrated German dancer. D'Orsay took an orange from a dish, coolly remarking upon the good quality of the fruit and tossed it up in the air several times, then as though by accident he gave it a wider cast and sent it through the offending pane, knocking the glass into the Thames. —Jerrold: "Beaux and Dandies."

MAKING LIGHT OF HER YEARS.

Marie Dressler was inviting her friends to a birthday party.

"There'll be a birthday cake, I suppose," some one remarked.

"Yes, there'll be a cake, never fear," was the reply.

"And candles, of course?" went on the alleged wit.

"My friend," said Miss Dressler, "this is to be a birthday party, not a torchlight procession."

STREET HIRED FOR THE DAY

Indignant Citizen Found He Could Not Interrupt Work of Moving Picture Company.

Samuel Butler argues that, as automatic expertise in piano playing proves previous practice, so also does the immediate expertise in pecking of a newly hatched chick. To the question of personal identity; and again. This brings up the whole in them), and can therefore do it question: How can a newly hatched chick have had any practice in pecking? Butler replies that the essentials of the chick once lived in its parents' bodies, and that it remembers what they did (or what it did in them), and can therefore do it again. This brings up the whole question of personal identity; and Butler deals with it. We say that an octogenarian is the same "person" as he was when an infant; yet there is no identity of matter. Nor does personality depend upon any consciousness or sense of such personality; it is not likely that the moth remembers having been a caterpillar, any more than we remember having been children of a day old. And if the octogenarian is the infant of eighty years ago he is also the foetus of a few months before, and—chasing him still further back—he is identical with his parents. This "involves the probable unity of all animal and vegetable life, as being, in reality, nothing but one single creature, of which the component members are but, as it were, blood corpuscles or individual cells," which would fit in rather well with the similar argumentation of Fechner.

He immediately threw off his disguise of a mild-mannered peasant and became an American Citizen.

He declared that nobody had any right to stop him. The representatives of the picture company were firm.

"Well, I'll leave it to a policeman," roared the Citizen, and he hustled over to a bluecoat who was standing near by.

"Can I or can I not pass along that street?" he inquired.

"You can NOT," said the policeman. "That street has been hired for the day. Get off it. Get a move on. Beat it."

Much crestfallen, the Citizen obeyed, went up another street, and was heard no more.

And the policeman, getting his cue, hurried into the middle of the street to take his part in the "show" and receive the congratulations of his fellow-actors.

NOBODY WAS BEING KILLED

Chambermaid Was Unduly Alarmed at Strange Sounds Coming From Hotel Room.

Taking parrots into the house is against the rules at the Manhattan, but yesterday when a large Canadian family with a cage arrived from a ship and the head of it said they wanted a suite of rooms merely for the day, as they were leaving for home at night, Beau Brummel Hill, the room clerk, who was smiling with the day, said he thought Polly might be accommodated just for the time.

Polly's cage was hung up in a window on the Forty-third street side of the building and the family went out shopping. An hour or so later the chambermaid on duty about those parts rushed to a telephone and called up the housekeeper.

"Somebody's bein' murdered in a room up here!" she cried. "One man's groanin' somethin' fearful and is yellin' 'Help! Help!' an' I'm afraid to open the door." The chambermaid was advised to go back and unlock the door, and by the time she got there the noise had ceased. Looking in, she saw the parrot and understood.—New York Sun.

VERDICT OF SCIENTIST.

Clement Wragge, who has inspected what are known as the "tattooed rocks" on the coast near Raglan, New Zealand, is distinctly of opinion that they are the work of neither Tamil nor Maori, but are the inscriptions of a very ancient race of sun worship people, antedating the advent of the Maori by untold centuries. The spiral circle, ovals, crosses and squares, he says, are most significant, and confirm his opinion that New Zealand has been inhabited by early man. He considers the inscriptions are probably connected with those at Easter Island and Central and South America, and are Atlantean or Lemurian in origin; further, that the Maori copied the spiral from the relics of ancient people, and did not initiate it.

PROLIFIC FISH.

Fishes have no call to blush when Colonel Roosevelt declaims against race suicide. Lewenhoeck, a great naturalist, who lived years ago, is authority for the statement that the cod spawns about nine million in a season. He adds that the flounder usually produces more than one million, and the mackerel more than five million. If Mr. and Mrs. Cod and Mr. and Mrs. Mackerel were to issue invitations for a family reunion it would mean something. There are more than one thousand varieties of fish, and not one of them, if Lewenhoeck be right, has cause to fear the reproach of Roosevelt.

NO NEED TO ASK.

"Does your wife ask you for things she knows you cannot afford?"

"She hasn't asked me for a thing since we were married."

"Great! How do you manage it?"

"When she wants a thing she does not ask me; she tells me."

Mrs. Powell Almost Dead.

Dry Ridge, Ky.—"I could hardly walk across the room," says Mrs. Lydia Powell, of Dry Ridge, "before I tri'd Cardui, I was so poorly. I was almost dead. Now, I can walk four miles and do my work with much more ease. I praise Cardui for my wonderful cure." Cardui is successful in benefiting sick women, because it is composed of ingredients that act specifically on the woman's constitution, relieving headache, backache, irregularity, misery and distress. Only a good medicine could show such continual increase in popularity as Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Aurora Borealis.

According to a theory recently enunciated, the aurora borealis is formed of cathode rays, emitted by the sun and deflected by the terrestrial magnetic field in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The velocity of these cathode rays must be nearly equal to that of light, and very much greater than the velocity of cathode rays produced in the laboratory. Lenard concludes that these extremely "hard" cathode rays are emitted by unknown radio-active substances in the sun.

Flower Keeps Its Freshness.

A common South African flower possesses the valuable property of keeping fresh for two months or more after cutting. It is a white star of Bethlehem, producing a compact spike of flowers on a stiff, erect stalk 18 inches or two feet long. The flowers are of a thin and papery tissue, all white except the yellow anthers. It can be sent over as a cut flower from South Africa to England, and then lasts for weeks in water.

IN THE WINTER DAYS

SUBSTITUTES FOR GREEN VEGETABLES OF SUMMER.

Stuffed Onion One of the Best That Can Be Recalled—Varied Methods of Serving the Always Acceptable Potato.

The days are here when the average housewife who must cater for herself is put upon her mettle as a marketer. Gone for the most part are the tender peas, beans and tomatoes that made the summer bill of fare so easy to plan. Sweet corn is no more, and the shrinkage in possibilities seems general.

Onions we have always with us, however, and they are excellent in other ways besides plain boiled or fried, as they commonly figure in the household plan. For instance, they can be stuffed, the sweet Bermuda onions being specially good for the purpose. Here is one popular formula.

Large specimens are selected and boiled until nearly tender but not quite so. The inside is taken out, leaving just a shell. Mince the part taken out with three cooked sausages, a hard-boiled egg, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, seasoning as liked, an ounce of butter, four drops of tabasco and a little minced parsley. The shells are filled with this mixture, cracker crumbs scattered over the top, a tiny bit of thin bacon is put on each, after which they are baked 30 minutes, or until agreeably soft.

Potatoes, the dependable, will figure henceforward more than they have done during the past months of abundance. They have the culinary virtue of being infinitely variable. For instance, when boiled and baked and fried, they have become a little wearisome and the homely tubers are no longer young enough to carry a sauce gracefully than they baked with eggs. For a moderate sized dish in this style you will need four cold-boiled potatoes and six hard-boiled eggs, all cut in slices about a fourth of an inch thick.

Put a layer of the potatoes in the baking dish, which must be well buttered, seasoning with salt, or salt and pepper, cover with a layer of the eggs. Repeat this and pour over the result two cups of thin white sauce. Cover with cracker crumbs soaked in butter and bake until brown on top. This is a substantial autumn dish.

For those to whose digestions the sturdy sausage filling would be anaesthesia, this more delicate method may appeal.

Cook and scoop out the vegetables as before, but stuff with a filling made of equal parts of chicken (cooked), soft stale bread crumbs and the removed part of the onions. This should be slightly seasoned with salt and pepper if liked, and is to be moistened with a little cream or melted butter. Sprinkle with crumbs soaked in butter and bake as described above.

Home-Made Cheese From Buttermilk.

To make a simple, home-made cream cheese from buttermilk, put several gallons of buttermilk into a kettle or boiler over the fire and heat slowly till it curdles, but do not let it get warmer than the hands can bear if placed in it. When ready, remove from the fire and set on the back of the stove till the curd separates from the whey. Then strain through a sieve or cheese cloth. Work the curd fine with the hands, salting it a little, then add gradually enough heavy cream to blend with it to the proper consistency, mixing it in very thoroughly.

Chocolate Loaf Cake.

Beat to a cream one-half cup of butter and a cup and a quarter of sugar. Add the yolks of three eggs, well beaten, and then alternately a cup and a half of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half cup of milk. Beat thoroughly, then fold in the whites of the three eggs beaten to a stiff froth, a quarter cake of chocolate, which should have been melted in the oven or over hot water and a teaspoonful of vanilla.

Economical Family Pudding.

Bruise with a wooden spoon through a colander six large or 12 middle-sized potatoes, beat four eggs, mix with a pint of good milk, stir in a potato, 6 ounces sugar and flavoring; butter a dish, make half an hour. The recipe is simple and economical. Cold potatoes which may have been kept two or three days till a sufficient quantity is collected will answer quite well.

Marking Linen.

When using marking ink to put initials, etc., on linen do your work first with an ordinary lead pencil and then use the marking ink over the work. The pencil will prevent the ink from spreading and giving the linen a blotched appearance.

Cold Day Dish.

One pound kidney beans cooked slow for three hours; when soft put one can tomatoes, cook for ten minutes, then adding one pound ground round steak, small piece red pepper, salt to taste; cook for five minutes; then it is ready to serve; this is fine.

Stuffed Doughnuts.

Materials.—One pint of raised bread dough, one-half of a cup of sugar, one teaspoon of vanilla, one tablespoon of butter, two eggs and one tumbler of red raspberry jam.

Following is the line-up of the Cairo team:

Halliday.....3 Powers.....CF
Hughes.....L Vidovich.....R
Blanchet.....13 Wolfe.....S
Lackey.....2B Smith.....C
Patrick.....P

The team is as usual made up of poor losers, and even when winning they are hard to please, as shown by the following report of the game they won, from the Bulletin:

"Cairo's nine defeated Hopkinsville's ten composed of nine players and one umpire, yesterday afternoon before a small but appreciative crowd at the ball park by the score of 10 to 9, it being the last of the series.

Heavy hitting was a feature of part of the game. Catcher Huhr of the visitors went to the bat in a Napoleonic manner just before he dug holes in the atmosphere with a three bagger, which was stretched into a home run, the ball just entering in the diamond when he crossed home plate.

Lyons of the visitors, who had seven hits in seven times up in a recent game, also secured a three base hit.

Umpire Piatt, the "ghost of Adam," was the source of much criticism by the fans attending. Some reminded him of the location of the arch at Eighth and Commercial, while others who were more lenient and suggested a siepe water ducking as a substitute for the use of a rope. No wonder he received the treatment he did at Harrisburg."

Tuesday's Games.

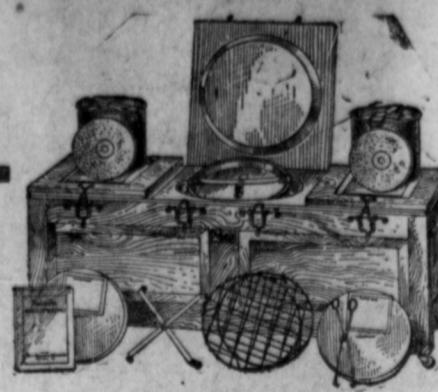

At Fulton—Hopkinsville 3. Fulton 0.

At Harrisburg—Vincennes 6, Harrisburg 1.

At McLeansboro—Paducah 3, McLeansboro 2.

At Cairo—Cairo 9. Clarksville 0 (forfeited).

Straw Berry
BAKED IN THE "CALORIC"

Short Cake

WE UNHESITATINGLY state that for pastry baking, no stove equals the "Caloric." If you ever eat Strawberry Short Cake baked in the "Caloric," you'll never again care for it baked any other way. This is only one illustration of the superior efficiency of the "Caloric" Fireless Cookstove. Meat, game, fish, poultry, practically all foods are rendered far more wholesome and delicious when baked or roasted in the "Caloric." All the fine flavor is retained; none is lost by evaporation as when the ordinary oven is employed.

The "Caloric" steams, stews and boils just as efficiently as it bakes and roasts. It is guaranteed to do just as we claim for it or your money refunded. Satisfaction, better cooked meals, and a less expenditure for fuel—less time in the kitchen over a hot stove—more time for shopping, reading, sewing, etc. What better arguments can we offer you?

Come into our store and let us tell you more about this wonderful kitchen marvel. You will be amazed at the seemingly wonderful things it accomplishes.

KITTY MEWS

Eddie Powers has resigned as manager of the Cairo team.

Binkley lost his first game Monday, being knocked out of the box.

Only 9 Games here this month and the first one will be to-morrow.

McElfresh, the tardy pitcher, has written that he will report here next Monday.

Umpire Piatt was with the Moguls at Cairo and Beck was with Clarksville at Fulton.

Dummy Hughes, the deaf mute, is back at first for Cairo, a position he played five years ago.

FRANKS AND O'REAR

The Republican Gubernatorial Aspirants are Both on the Stump This Week.

At Richmond Monday E. T. Franks spoke and the "night rider" was traced all over Western Kentucky and unmercifully flogged by him. He became bitter when talking of "night rider" outrages, and said he did not expect their votes because they were Democrats, claiming that most of the bands of marauders were from Democratic communities.

Judge E. C. O'Rear was scathingly denounced by the speaker, who said that while he admired Judge O'Rear as a man and a judge, he did not like the principles for which he stood. He said the nomination of O'Rear was blow to civil liberty and that he was telling the people of O'Rear's faults in advance of the Democrats, for in case the judge was nominated the Democrats would tell them.

High School Burned.

Louisville, June 5.—The male high school here was damaged by fire late this afternoon to the extent of $20,000 when the two upper floors were completely destroyed and the two lower ones badly damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

A crowd of about 300 gathered from Logan and adjoining counties to hear Judge E. C. O'Rear, at Russellville, Monday. His speech was along the line of his speeches at Hopkinsville and Kuttawa. He made no reference to E. T. Franks' remarks at Barbourville, but said that he placed a higher estimate upon the office of governor than mudslinging and that he did not propose to lower the standard of Kentucky and her people or his party by indulging in such. He said that officers of the law should be held responsible for the peace of their community and in this way mobs could be prevented.

He made a strong plea for the enforcement of the law.

Surely Dead.

The dead body of a white man was found hanging in an abandoned barn in Taylor county that had evidently been there three or four weeks.

HEART FAILURE

Causes Death of Mrs. Henry Tresch.

Mrs. Permilia H. Tresch, wife of Mr. Henry Tresch, died Tuesday at her home on Jesup avenue. Mrs. Tresch was 63 years old. She had been ill of a complication of diseases for several months, but appeared to be better Tuesday morning and was able to sit up. A relapse came, however, and she passed away rather suddenly. Heart failure was the direct cause of death. The deceased is survived by her husband and four children. The interment will take place at Riverside cemetery today.

DIED IN MADISONVILLE.

Interment Near Sinking Fork Yesterday.

Mrs. Sidney Bishop, formerly of Hopkinsville, died Monday night at her home in Madisonville. She was about 45 years old and is survived by her husband and two children. The deceased was a sister of Mr. T. H. Richardson. The remains were brought here Tuesday afternoon and interment took place yesterday near Sinking Fork.

C. G. McDaniel, of Louisville, was here this week on business.

W. N. Rice Dead.

William N. Rice, four times a citizen of Dawson and for two five years owned general store, died Monday night of a complication of diseases. He was one of the prominent citizens of the place. Leaves a wife but no children, raised three orphans, J. R. Knight, of Hopkinsville; Walter more, of Louisville, and Lewis heart, of Dawson.

Died all Alone.

William L. Gresham was dead near his home, five miles of Eddyville Saturday morning. Left the house to go to the field and fell in the road, where he was found dead. Heart failure supposed to be the cause of his death. There was no one with him at time of his death.

Sorely Afflicted Family.

Three children of Mr. Dr. Blankenship, a North Christian man, died last week of flux and diarrhoea. Blankenship is ill of same disease. The ages of the children were three, five and eight respectively.
